

The S.H.F.T.™ protocol.

The under-two-minute reset for the moment a symptom or emotion spikes — deployed at symptom onset to prevent the secondary anxiety that amplifies it.

Sarah Anticich Consulting · The Executive Frame™

You are not broken. You are in the tunnel — and tunnels have an end. S.H.F.T.™ is what you run the moment you notice yourself narrowing.

S · Stop

Interrupt the trajectory; name the state plainly — “I am narrowing.”

H · Hold

One physiological sigh — two short inhales, one long exhale — repeated until settled. Regulation before interpretation.

F · Focus

“What is actually happening, and what matters most in the next ten minutes?”

T · Take Action

One deliberate action, taken on purpose — toward what matters.

+ Plus — once stable, return later to repair, reflect and integrate. The loop is iterative; each pass deepens the pattern.

Practice log

Each time you use S.H.F.T.™, note what happened — this is how the protocol becomes automatic.

When / trigger	State I named	My action + what shifted
When / trigger	State I named	My action + what shifted
When / trigger	State I named	My action + what shifted
When / trigger	State I named	My action + what shifted

My personal S.H.F.T.™ adaptation — how I'll make each step my own